

https://www.unionleader.com/news/crime/man-indicted-in-alleged-londonderry-dog-stabbing/article_d3e873a3-06b0-5d45-aa8e-60cbd7ddad34.html

Man indicted in alleged Londonderry dog stabbing

By Jason Schreiber Union Leader Correspondent

Feb 16, 2021

A Massachusetts man is facing charges for allegedly stabbing a dog in the head in Londonderry last year.

Herminio Filomeno, 35, of Haverhill, was indicted this month by a Rockingham County grand jury on a felony cruelty to animals charge for the alleged incident on May 12, 2020. He also faces a misdemeanor animal cruelty charge.

Both charges allege that Filomeno purposely “mutilated” a household pet when he “stabbed a dog in the head with a sharp metal tool resulting in a large laceration.”

He is scheduled to be arraigned in Rockingham County Superior Court on March 19.

Jason Schreiber

<]